Notes:

Subject classifications can help focus results to just those covering a particular area of interest. Use the drop-down menu to search by BISAC Code or Subject Heading, US Library of Congress Subject Heading or Call Number, Dewey Decimal Number or Ebook Central Subject. Choose whether the subject code or heading chosen should contain or match your search terms. Enter your subject heading or code search parameters. Combine with a keyword in the second search box to narrow the subject if desired or add additional search limits like publication year range, language, book status such as “Owned and subscribed to by my library”, and more. Then click Search to run your subject search and see the Ebook Central results page.

1.7 Review Results

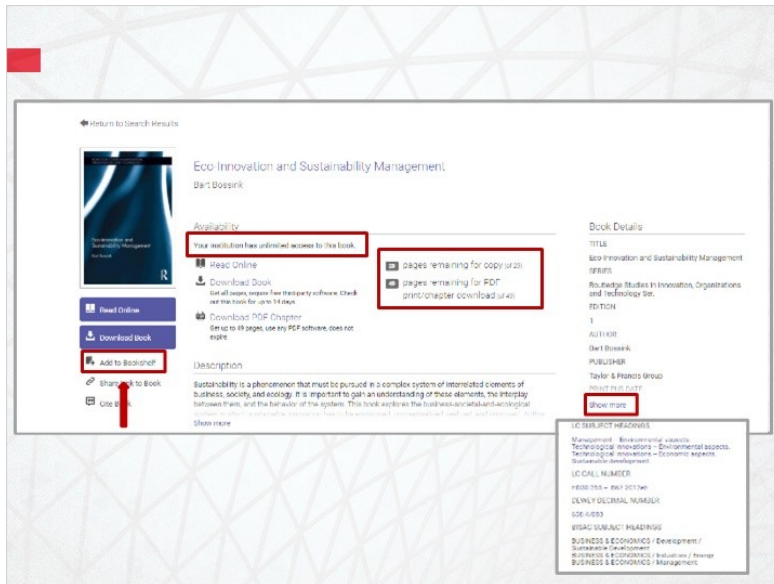

Notes: Searching or browsing Ebook Central subjects takes you to the search results screen with a list of books meeting the criteria in the center panel.

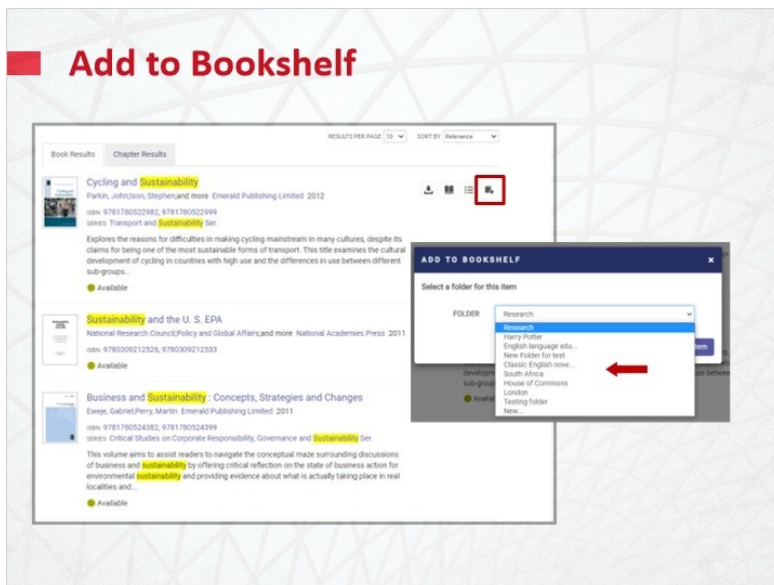

Clicking the title of the book leads to the book detail page. You may also arrive directly on a book detail page from your library catalog, discovery layer or other source. This page identifies the book's availability for your organization, including unlimited access and other access models, as well as any copy, print, or download limits based on the publisher.

Show more gives additional detail, including subject classification information that can generate search ideas. To add a book to your Bookshelf from the book detail page, click the Add to Bookshelf link on the left.

1.8 Add to Bookshelf

Notes:

You can also add books to your bookshelf by clicking the Add to Bookshelf icon in the Book Results list. Use the Folder drop-down to select the folder for the item or create a new folder. Organize your books into as many folders as you'd like.

1.9 Create and Share Link

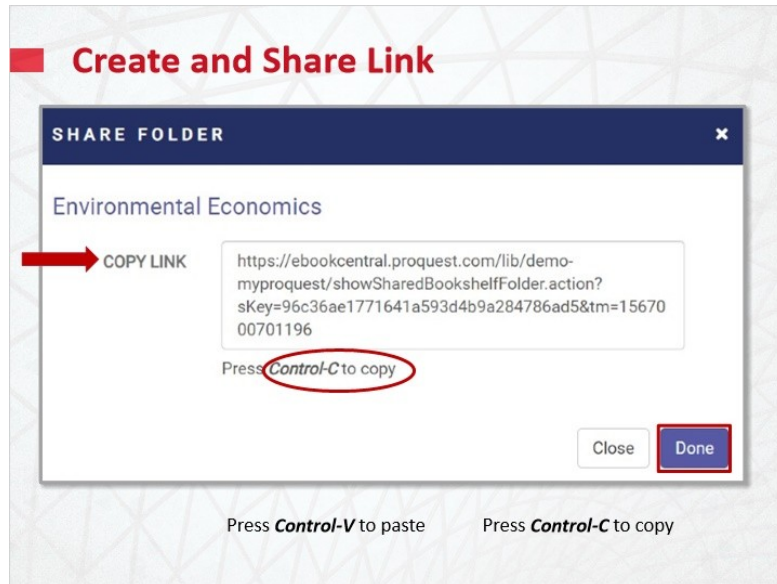

Notes:

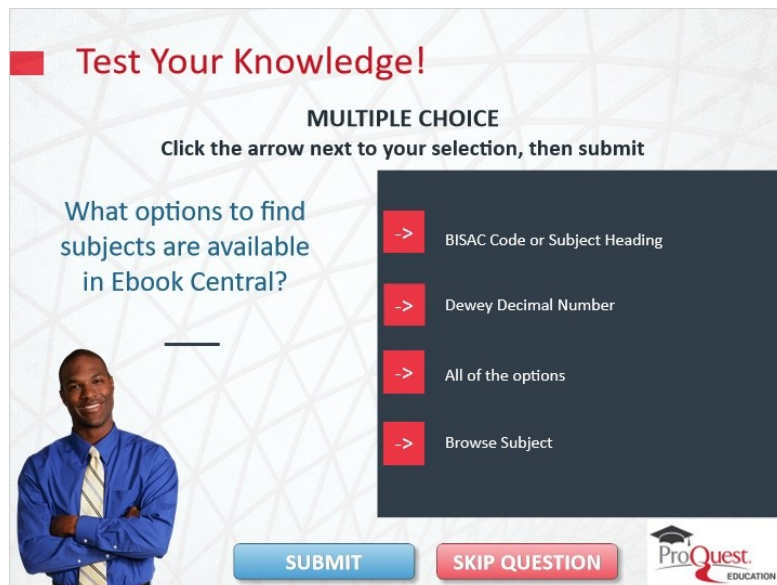

Access your Bookshelf from the ribbon at the top right of Ebook Central to create and share a link with others at your institution. Go to the folder you would like to share, then click on the paperclip icon at the top.

To copy the share link just click Control-C on your keyboard. Close the Share Folder Copy Link view by clicking Done and use Control-V to paste and then share the link. The link can be used for online course reading lists, new title lists for patrons and faculty, and a myriad of other ways as subject or topic resources.
